

Hello! I am Raquel from Spain and I have been doing my volunteering in a kindergarten in Vienna.

I had always worked in business administration and I chose this volunteering because I wanted to do something different than what I had been doing.

My advice in relation to this would be to take advantage of volunteering to try new things. Who knows, maybe you discover your vocation through this medium. For me it was also important to choose the country and it is that for me living in Vienna was a dream that thanks to the European Solidarity Corps I have been able to fulfill.

I believe that everyone should have a volunteer experience in a country different from their own, where they have the opportunity to learn new things and to live and coexist with cultures different from their own.
